Councillors

As a senior in Queenston, it is becoming necessary for the councillors to improve transportation in the region. Although there are masses of younger people moving to the region, there also an increasing number of seniors in the area. With an inefficient transit system, these seniors must rely on driving when perhaps they are past their best days behind the wheel have past buy. I could be one in the near future and would like to think that when that day arrives, I have the ability to safely get around without putting others in danger. As well, people with disabilities require an efficient transportation system.
